Mind Maps

- Mind Map: a large spatial and semi-artistic arrangement of information designed to display a complex concept, phenomena, or time period. It is more comprehensive and displays a larger breadth of information than a regular web.

- Purpose: Research demonstrates that spatially arranging information and designating intellectual purpose to artistic expression increases understanding and retention. In addition, it allows one to extract main ideas, identify important concepts and information, and display it graphically.

- Instructions: Draft your mind map on normal paper. Use colored writing utensils to spatially arrange information purposefully. Doodle little graphics and signs to help you remember certain concepts and ideas.

- General Guidelines:
  - Be logical in the progression outwards from the center, with main ideas as the major branches and more specific information branching off.
  - Choose colors purposefully
  - Doodle purposefully
  - Command vocabulary and details

Essential ?: How does prior knowledge of the Victorian Era help to explain Austen’s writing?

- Word of the Day:
- Quick Write: Austen’s Popularity
- Venn Diagram: Marriage
- PP: Notes on Jane Austen

Materials Needed:
- Pen/Pencil
- Notebook (3 ring binder)
Although its setting and characters are certainly dated, Pride and Prejudice has remained a popular novel since its publication in 1813. Why do you think it has retained its popularity?
P OSSIBLE A NSWERS:

- A great love story with twists and turns and obstacles; with the right girl and the right boy ending up together.
- In addition to the multifaceted Elizabeth and Darcy, the novel presents stock characters we all understand (the interfering, well intentioned but ridiculously foolish mother, the pompous moron, the snobbish elite, and the scoundrel).

Journal Response: First Impressions

The title of Jane Austen’s first draft of Pride and Prejudice was First Impressions.

When you meet someone new, are your first impressions likely to prove accurate? What are first impressions based upon? Make a list and then discuss the value or reliability of the items on the list. Do we ever meet someone new without prejudging him or her in some way?
